

Kydzzo operates on the fact that every child is strictly unique, navigating their own set of challenges as they grow

We establish customized actionable strategies by examining not only the child's age but also their cognitive development and environmental influences

Kydzzo, founded by Ahmed Sbeata, is a global lifeline for families, exclusively specializing in all aspects of child and adolescent behavior. Our key strategy lies in conducting thorough research into each child's case individually, and consequently training parents and providing them with customized solutions and actionable strategies based on the child's specific situation, age, surrounding environment, and symptoms.

OUR MISSION

Kydzzo goes to great lengths to achieve its number-one mission: equipping parents with realistic, practical and logical strategies to understand and manage their children's behaviors across all ages and cultural backgrounds.

Our goal, though simple in its essence, takes tremendous effort on both our end and yours, and the results have always been satisfactory. We strive to create lasting change within families and communities worldwide by not only addressing behavioral issues as they arise at different developmental stages but also fostering positive traits such as leadership, self-confidence and overall well-being of children.

WHO DO WE SERVE

Our doors swing wide open for families of every background, beckoning not only individuals but also governmental and non-governmental institutions, whether local or international, eager to unite in community-building efforts.

OUR VISION

We envision a future where every parent is cultivated with the knowledge and skills to foster their children's growth and development at every stage, creating harmonious family dynamics and in turn a generation of emotionally, socially, and academically successful children.

SBEATA'S PERSONAL MESSAGE TO PARENTS

I started Kyzzo with a flaming desire to bridge a gap so vivid in all families. We should be conscious of the fact that diverse challenges will always take place between you and your child, and it comes down to you to learn how to deal with these challenges to ultimately deepen the connection between you both. And that's exactly what Kyzzo is set out for.

No two children are the same, nor are their struggles, emotions, or personal situations, even if brought up in the same household, under the same circumstances. Understanding that alone is a major key in helping you take that first step into a healthier, stronger familial relationship.

As an architect designs a blueprint for a strong foundation, I work directly alongside you—the cornerstone of your family—to coach you practical strategies that help you better understand and guide your children's development.
